WASHINGTON, May 15.—
Holding in check for 24 hours a threatened strike in 60 General Motors Corporation plants, the national defense mediation board today submitted its own formula for settling the labor dispute and called upon company officials to accept or reject the plan before 4:10 a. m. tomorrow.

Details of the recommendations were withheld pending action by plant officials. The agreement was accepted "without reservation" by representatives of the United Au-off a strike of 160,000 members scheduled for 7 a. m. the board

PA NEW OBSERVES

Streams in this district seem to be at the lowest stage of years, especially for any period of the springtime. Heavy rains are badly needed.

Pa. News notes that the holes in the center roadway surface of the West Washington street bridge over the Shenango river, have been fixed.

There are still a lot of secondary roads throughout the district that have many heavy sections to be repaired. An autist will discover on a tour of these roads in the district. The past winter was probably the hardest on secondary highways of any in many years.

Pa. News saw a number of sheep being sheared last evening. Another onlooker remarked that when she was a young girl, it took quite a bit of time to shear a sheep as it had to be done with special shears.
Today, the shearing is done with a machine and one sheep can be sheared in about five minutes.

Dogs may have their place, but it surely is not in the neighbors' gardens. Some east side folks that have taken trouble to have their gardens spaded and planted, complain that dogs have played havoc by selecting their garden plots for a playground.

Disputing the assertion made by Owen Fox in the Pa. News column recently that dogwood does not bloom in April, J. F. Miller, of Mt.
Jackson, states that he had dogwood trees on his farm which were blooming this year in April.

Senate Slated To Pass Ship Seizure Bill Today

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The administration's bill authorizing requisition of 84 foreign-flag merchant ships in U. S. harbors was slated to pass the senate today despite charges that it empowers the president to commit a provocative act of war and may lead to retaliation
by the Axis powers.

The way for final action on the measure was paved as the senate anti-convoy bloc tentatively decided to postpone a showdown on the Tobey amendment prohibiting convoy of lease-lend goods to Britain.

One major obstacle faced administration leaders as they sought speedy action on the bill enabling the president to take over 30 German and Italian ships and 54 vessels under the French and other flags in American waters.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Proud, sleek and one of

U. S. S. Washington today will be inducted into Uncle

Senator Wheeler Thinks Time Here For Peace Effort

Believes Hess' Escape Is Sign
Of Revolt In German
High Command

By ROBERT A. M'GILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The escape of Rudolf Hess, the No. 3 Nazi, to England and reports of revolt among the German command, today evoked demands from Sen.
Wheeler (D) Mont., and other noninterventionists, that President Roosevelt attempt a negotiated peace.

The peace offensive, led by Wheeler, was immediately countered by administration supporters with warnings that cessation of hostil-ties at this time would amount to "unconditional surrender" for Great Britain.

Asserting that Hess' "strange flight" to England is an indication that German morale is breaking, Wheeler said "it seems to me that it might be an opportune time for President Roosevelt to try and stop further slaughter."

The leader of the congressional non-interventionists anticipated his proposal would be attacked by the "blood-thirsty war mongers" but said that he is "perfectly willing to rely on the verdict of history as to which side represents Christian ideals."

"If trying to stop the wholesale slaughter is being an appeaser, then I'm perfectly willing to be branded an appeaser," Wheeler added.

LONDON, May 15.—Because French authorities are letting Ger-to Iraq, the R. A. F. today was given official permission to engage in "acts of war" against Syria.

Moreover, Foreign Secretary An-

French mandate over the near eastern territory as forfeited.
Two Axis military missions, according to a Reuters dispatch from

Germany Reduces Rations Of Meat

(International News Service)
BERLIN, May 15.—A 20 per cent reduction in weekly meat rations for the German people was announced by the government today.

Effective June 2, meat rations for the majority of German citizens will be cut to 400 grams or about 14 ounces a week. "Heavy workers" will be allowed 600 grams of meat and thousands engaged in the heaviest labor will be permitted 1,000 grams.

Rations of vegetables and butter will be increased.

It was asserted that in the past year, using 24,000,000 dairy cattle the Reich has produced 700,000 tons of butter and that German milk production during the past year was increased by 2,500,000,000 liters.

Three-Block Area In Philadelphia Is Swept By Fire Today

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—The most spectacular fire in Philadelphia's recent history, today cut a swath through a three-block area, razing 8 to 15 homes, damaging a score of others and menacing German shipyard—vital defense arm in the city's Kensington area.

Six regular alarms were turned in as the flames raged out of control, while two supplementary calls were telephoned to fire headquarters. Firemen at the scene privately estimated property loss might run between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Thousands of curious attracted by a tremendous red glare in the sky flocked to the scene, while bystanders and fire fighters alike were felled by the intense heat. Starting at 2:30 a. m., the blaze raced through a lumberyard and ignited factories and garages in its fiery path.

was organized. He told the board that his future plans cannot as yet

The first drive aims to give the New Castle district needed first aid service in emergencies. The New Castle Mobile unit consists of 52 members of the local fire depart-be actively supporting the drive.

The Duke was described as letters which Hess addressed to him, and after meeting Hess in Scotland over the

Democrats Face Tax Cut Problem

Can't Decide Where To Cut

Want Legislation To Provide For Some Tax Reduction However

MAY DECIDE BY COMING MONDAY

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 15.—Democratic leaders in the legislature, having agreed upon the need for reducing taxes at this session, today found themselves in the anomalous position of being unable to decide what taxes should be cut.

At a conference attended by legislative and party leaders it was decided not to reduce the gross receipts tax, despite a recommendation to that effect by Senate Democratic Leader Harry Shapiro. As a result, this tax and the liquor tax were slated to be reported out of committee today, said House Majority Leader Leo A. Achtermann.

"They will not be reduced," he flatly stated, adding that they would be ready for final passage on Monday, having already had two readings. Both are part of the emergency tax program being re-enacted for a third biennium. The revenue from the gross receipts tax is estimated by the administration at $10,500,000 and that from the liquor tax at $17,260,000.

Opinion in Democratic circles appeared to be that party leaders would most likely decide to reduce either or both the corporate net income tax and the personal property tax. National Committeeman David L. Lawrence, who wields considerable influence in the party, was said to favor a reduction in the corporation tax, which is estimated to bring in $61,347,500 during the next two years. The administration estimates that the personal property tax yield will total $27,600,000. Democratic leaders are convinced the revenue from both these taxes will be substantially above the governor's estimates.

Achtermann said the corporate net income tax, the personal property tax and the two remaining emergency tax bills will be reported out of committee next week for enactment. The gasoline and cigarette tax bills have already been approved by the House without amendment and now await Senate concurrence.

totalitarian gentlemen and communists for a good many years. "We have seen this kind of stunt over and over again. I am not going to be deceived by them. "From my viewpoint, Hess is a murderer no man should negotiate with."

Whether Bevin's statement had the prior approval of Churchill was a matter for keen speculation. Nor was it known whether it represented the first official comment of the cabinet as a whole.

The stocky, outspoken labor minister—spokesman for the whole vast laboring population of Britain and the empire—is an arch-foe of Nazism and all that it implies.

"Not Going To Be Deceived" Seasoned observers deprecated any attempt to read into Bevin's statement indications of a division of opinion among cabinet members as to the sincerity of Hess' visit. The Nazi chieftain was alleged to be anxious to spill secrets designed to overthrow the "tyranny" of the Third Reich. Bevin's statement indicated the possibility that some persons might be taking Hess seriously—but he probably was speaking to the public at large rather than any of his colleagues.

Bevin's statement followed the general lines of a trenchant editorial in the powerful Manchester Guardian yesterday which warned of Nazi trickery and decried efforts to build Hess into a hero.

Germany officially maintains that Hess, a victim of illusions and "mental derangement," flew from Augsburg to the Duke of Hamilton's Scottish estate in a "Messianic" effort to save the British empire from destruction.

Great Britain. Such a transfer, Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., declared, "is a provocative act of war."

The decision of the anti-convoy bloc to abandon efforts to attach the amendment of Sen. Tobey (R) N. H. to the bill as a "rider" brought taunts from convoy advocates.

While Tobey himself declared that he was undecided on his course of action, other anti-convoy advocates said that "the time is not ripe" to press for a showdown vote on the convoy issue.

"We want to bring the naked issue of convoys before the senate," said Sen. Clark (D) Mo. "The foreign relations committee deliberately stifled this effort. The question now is the best parliamentary method of seeking a vote."

to the hospital where the No. 3 Nazi chieftain was first taken before being removed to a private retreat at an unrevealed spot. What Hess told the Duke was not divulged, but British sources indicated Hess wanted to convey information which would aid the British in "overthrowing the tyranny that prevails in the Reich."

In his talks with British authorities, it was added, Hess has handed over information which is represented as "highly useful." Some of this may be outlined by Prime Minister Winston Churchill when he addresses the House of Commons on Hess.

Churchill Silent

London, May 15.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today declined a statement on the Rudolf Hess case.

In reply to questions in the House of Commons, Churchill said he would take the first opportunity to give authentic news regarding Hess and the Duke of Hamilton.

"But in selection of the opportunity," he said, "I shall be guided by the public interest."

Churchill said he did not consider it unfortunate that 48 hours elapsed before the arrival of Hess in Scotland was announced. His identity first had to be established, he said.

"I did not believe it when I was told on Sunday," the prime minister added.

But I immediately sent to Scotland an officer who knew the deputy (obviously) Ivoe Kirkpatrick of the ministry of information who was first secretary of the British embassy in Berlin.)

Seek To Confuse Nazis

London, May 15.—Evidently striving to confuse the Nazis, Prime Minister Winston Churchill today postponed for an indefinite period his anticipated statement before the House of Commons on Rudolf Hess' fantastic "escape" from Germany to Britain.

Authorities disclosed that a full report on the case will be withheld by Churchill pending further official examination of Hess and the circumstances surrounding his weird flight from the Reich to Scotland in a Messerschmitt fighting plane.

All that has been made known officially is that Hess came to see the Duke of Hamilton at the latter's estate near Glasgow. Within 48 hours of his arrival, Hess was confronted by the noble athlete and flier, but the details of their conversation have not been divulged.

Not On Peace Mission

Official circles, meanwhile, reiterated that Hess did not come to Britain on any "peace mission" and insisted his flight was "purely an escape from Germany." But they emphasized that ever since his arrival Saturday night he has been treated as a prisoner of war.

Reasons for postponement of the statement by Churchill were not officially divulged, but it appeared that the prime minister is attempting to create as much confusion regarding Hess in Germany as the former Nazi chieftain's arrival created in Britain.

One reason for withholding even a partial statement on Hess would be to prevent the Nazi high command from learning—or even surmising—the extent to which Hess has revealed German war secrets under extensive questioning by British agents.

Pleas from all sides for release of official information about Hess have, however, resulted in some relaxation of censorship, and this has permitted British newspapers to indulge in the wildest kind of speculation.

Eden told the House that information at the disposal of the British government shows that French authorities in Syria are allowing German aircraft to use Syrian airports as intermediate posts for flights to Iraq, where the Luftwaffe is aiding the Iraqi resistance against the British.

Britain, said Eden, "consequently has given full authority for action to be taken against these German aircraft in Syria."

THREE BLOCK AREA IN PHILADELPHIA IS SWEEPED BY FIRE TODAY

cently re-opened after lying idle since the "naval holiday" some 15 years ago.

Residents of more than 100 homes, mainly occupied by shipyard workers, were forced to flee when all lights were shut off. Deputy fire marshals immediately began questioning householders in an effort to trace the origin of the blaze.

Uses Fire Boats

Public Safety Director James Malone, who took charge of the battle to bring the blaze under control, ordered fire boats to proceed up the Delaware river, which flanks the blazing section, to help pump water for the giant conflagration.

Scores of families fled from their homes in the path of the swiftly-moving fire, and streets surrounding the district were jammed with automobiles and trucks as the fleeing families sought to save furniture and personal belongings.

DAY'S DELAY IN GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE THREAT

night-long negotiations which ended in a deadlock between the corporation and the union over wage increases, the closed shop and other issues. The announcement was issued by Board Vice Chairman William H. Davis.

"Being unable to effect a complete agreement or to dispose of the points in the dispute by voluntary arbitration," the board has made findings and formulated recommendations for the settlement of the dispute," the statement read.

"These recommendations have been accepted by the representatives of the United Automobile Workers without reservation but subject to ratification by the union membership. The board offered the General Motors Corporation 24 hours—until 4:10 o'clock Friday morning—to consider these recommendations before the expiration of which time they will either accept or reject them.

Postpone For 24 Hours

"At the request of the national defense mediation board the representatives of the United Automobile Workers have agreed to postpone 24 hours the deadline for their strike, which was set for 7 o'clock this morning."

The statement was issued following night-long negotiations between the three-man board panel and representatives of the union and the company.

During the negotiations the board asked the opposing factions if they would prefer voluntary arbitration on the subject of wages. The answer of the union was in the negative, the board said, while the corporation's reply was in the affirmative "with an explanation of its position."

Deadlock On Demands

The negotiations which began 11 days ago have been deadlocked over the union's demand for a 10 cent per hour blanket wage increase for more than 250,000 General Motors employees. Another point of controversy was the closed shop issue.

Authoritative sources said that the company had agreed to make some concessions on the wage question but was adamant on its stand against a closed shop.

The board began negotiations when 150,000 CIO workers voted to strike unless the company agreed to its demands. The strike was first postponed when it was given the board by Secretary of Labor Perkins April 25, however, pending negotiations before the mediation body.

At the time union officials said that a strike in the G. M. plants would not necessarily involve $750,000 in defense contracts. Union officials said they would permit workers to continue in plants engaged in defense work.

Company officials insisted that any strike would involve the defense orders and that it would not be feasible to carry on defense work during a general walkout.

since the U. S. S. West Virginia in 1923 and leave 15 more to be built before the present quota of 32 sea giants is reached.

The Washington was sponsored by Miss Virginia Marshall, of Spokane, Wash., a direct descendant of John Marshall, former chief U. S. justice.

Officials representing the state of Washington were to be on hand this afternoon when the ship is formally turned over to Capt. H. H. Benson, a native of Baltimore who will command the warship's 75 officers and crew of 1,400.

Carries Nine 16-Inch Guns

Sixth U. S. naval vessel to bear the name of the country's first president, the Washington carries nine 16-inch guns, an undisclosed number and type of other armament and incorporates lessons learned during the "naval holiday" of the 1920's and during the present war. Naval men have characterized her class as today's ultimate in offensive and defensive power.

Completed months ahead of schedule, the Washington is believed to have shattered all construction records. The keel was laid June 14, 1938, and the sea queen was launched June 1, 1940. Minor adjustments and finishing touches remain before Delaware River trials are undertaken June 9 to 12, a yard announcement said.

ment said. Early in July the vessel is to undergo trials at the navy's testing grounds off Maine preliminary to joining the fleet and receiving stationery orders.

The commissioning program will end tonight when Secretary Knox speaks before a dinner given by the Navy Yard Development Association, comprising civilians employed in building the new fighting unit.

And Lakewood Girl Marry

White peonies, snapdragons and gladioli, with palms, were used in decorating St. Clement's church, Lakewood, O., for the wedding Wednesday morning of Miss Norma Shirley Zwierein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zwierein, 1519 Marlowe avenue, Lakewood, who became the bride of James Pershing Gravenstreter, of Gary, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Gravenstreter, New Wilmington road.

High nuptial mass was celebrated yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the beautifully decorated church, with Rev. Fr. Thornton officiating.

For her wedding, Miss Zwierein chose a white faille gown, basque type, made en train, and a fingertip length veil. She carried a white prayer book on which was her bouquet of white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley. Her maid of honor, dressed in aqua, and three bridesmaids, in yellow gowns, were all close school friends.

Robert Young of New Castle served as best man. Also included in the bridegroom's attendants was his brother, Thomas Gravenstreter. Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to about 50 guests at a Rocky River, O., inn. From 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, a reception was held at the Zwierein home.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Gravenstreter left for a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, Va., and after May 27 will reside in the Beverly apartment house, Gary, Ind., where Mr. Gravenstreter is associated with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. For traveling, the bride chose a red silk print frock with navy wool jacket and a red turban. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. Gravenstreter is a graduate of New Castle High school, in the class of '36, and of Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, in the 1940 class.

Since news of their engagement, Mr. Gravenstreter has been honored at a number of showers and the couple has received an array of lovely gifts for their new home.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. John Young of Blaine street, this city, and Mrs. William P. Lohman of Vandergrift, a former resident of New Castle.

The attendants and guard, were: Misses Betty Cope, Eleanor McKibben, Lois Leach, Manneetta McCracken, Idagene Mitchell, Betty Wright, and Edice Norris, who with the queen and coronation officer had been elected by the Rainbow Assembly. Worthy Advisor Juanita Lewis was marshal of the day.

SUBSINK; AIR POWER REMAINS

THE British publication, Brassey's Naval Annual, just issued, estimates that more than 70 per cent of all German submarines commissioned in the past twelve months have been sunk.

This is ex parte, of course. The percentage named may be larger than actuality and the suggestion of the Annual's commentator that this is "probably greater than that of German replacement" properly includes a question mark.

Yet it was shown in the first World War and is likely to be true in this that the submarine is a vulnerable weapon. The Nazi wolf packs must contend with terrible and extensive counter measures at all times. It is possible to believe that Hitler's submarines are suffering bitter losses month by month.

Against this is the consistent heavy loss of British tonnage. But in this war, more than in the first World War, a considerable number of ship losses are due to Nazi bombing planes.

The Nazi U-boat menace is considerable enough, regardless of comparative British success in combatting it. But in this war air power has taken enormous toll of British shipping and whatever may be accomplished to destroy the submarine, it will not suffice unless and until the Luftwaffe is curbed.

Airpower is the answer to airpower. Again and again aspects of the war, like this one, drive home the fact that the earliest need, both for Britain and ourselves, is to create air forces capable of overcoming the greatest armadas.

GHASTLY SHOWERS

Accountable for most of the destructiveness visited upon British cities by the Hitler air force is not so much the big explosive bomb of five hundred to a thousand pounds as the comparatively small incendiary bomb. This has the potentially necessary to wipe out all of the cities of Europe if the war lasts long enough.

Incendiary bombs weigh from two pounds to one hundred pounds and may be composed of a variety of substances. The two-pound "electron" bomb is in most common use. One bomber can carry from 500 to 2,000 of these deadly little missiles, which are hardly larger than a giant Fourth of July firecracker. They are constructed of a thick-walled casing of a magnesium alloy which is filled with thermite—a mixture of iron oxide and granulated aluminum.

These bombs, released from a great height, strike with sufficient velocity to penetrate most roofs. On an average one bomb in five hits a building and the others fall in streets. When the bomb strikes a cap is detonated. A chemical reaction of the thermite core and of the magnesium casing results.

The bomb burns with a heat as intense as 5,400 degrees Fahrenheit, setting fire to anything combustible that the liquid, sputtering magnesium touches. It even melts bricks. How cities can survive this ghastly shower is a mystery. Probably they will not.

THE BEST SEASON

It is no accident that the best and longest-remembered hymns to spring were written by English poets, for spring is surely the loveliest of England's seasons—speaking in a climatic sense and forgetting the Nazis for the moment. Her autumns are on the drear side, and her winters drearier, while summer as spent by the Briton is one long, foot-loose effort to escape from other Britons. But her springs are superb, and no doubt it is English poetry that has persuaded Americans that spring is glorious in itself, whenever found.

In the northern part of the United States, at least, this does not always square with the facts—Americans do much better with their autumns—but it is the custom to excuse the spring and say it is not up to par, whereas Aprils and Mays are remarkably alike, with a day too hot succeeded by one too chill. Thus there is no traditional dress for the first ball games—the heaviest overcoat is needed one day; a straw hat might well be worn the next.

The best that can be given spring, or what passes for it in this climate, is that somehow or other the new verdure contrives to assert itself, the shabby lawn takes on new life, the birds manage to survive its rigors, and presently everyone is plunged into summer heat.

If the truth is good in all advertising, the bard might better celebrate autumn, finest of the American seasons.

DUMB OR NUMB

If, as President Roosevelt says, the American public is not sufficiently aware of the dangers to this country in the situation abroad, there must be reason for it. Certainly the newspapers, their front pages jammed with war operations, war budgets and war taxes, have not been remiss. Nor have the war experts and interpreters.

May we suggest that the American public, while deeply interested, is also confused?

The people are called upon to arouse for war, when only last October they were assured, again and again and in the plainest words, that we should be kept out of the war.

The public heard assurances that trade union leaders would be examples of unselfish patriotism in an hour of peril—and then they saw strikes that slowed down numerous defense industries.

The public saw Washington tacitly acquiesce in demands for higher wages in the steel mills—and then, when the increases were granted, saw the government instantly freeze steel prices.

The people saw their sons drafted into the army at $21 a month—and then heard that war must not interfere with the costly social programs of the New Deal.

The public saw the president unwilling to turn defense production over to a central authority—and then saw the spending of seven billion dollars turned over to Harry Hopkins, an amiable man who would be unfit for such a task even if his health were perfect.

The public heard that it must give and give in war taxation—and then saw Mr. Roosevelt toss half a billion dollars into his pet St. Lawrence project, useless for this war.

When the country was dismayed by its lack of preparation to defend its own borders it was told that its future duty was to carry the Four Freedoms into every part of the world!

The attitude of the public should not be interpreted as dumbness when probably it is only the numbness caused by contradiction, vacillation and confusion.—New York Sun.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

SPANK CHILD ONLY IN INFANCY

Perhaps some parents who have been reading this column in which I have often said that selective spanking in the early years is desirable, have supposed they have my approval for all sorts of spanking, whipping and even beating of children at an age at any time when the parents feel like doing so. They certainly have not.

On the contrary, wise discipline aims to rule out corporal punishment after the child is four or five. It forbids shaking the child, striking him about the face or head, or using anything as a rule, other than the bare, flat hand. Neither does it employ a shrieking tongue nor piercing eyes. It demands, moreover, complete self-control in the parent and selection of a few situations agreed upon by both parents in which the child will be punished to restrain him. Except for a few routines, the child wisely guided will not be punished to make him do things but merely for keeping him from doing the few definitely forbidden things.

Wise Guidance

This wise guidance affords the child opportunities to do a hundred things with satisfaction and approval to one he is forbidden and punished for. Besides, wise discipline means abundant affection, understanding and companionship between the child and parents and increasing opportunity for the growing child to enjoy achievements in accepted ways and to feel himself a worthy member of his family group. With such discipline the child needs to be commanded and controlled by adults less and less as he grows older; he wisely controls himself more and more, towards good citizenship at home and away from home.

Make Your "NO" Respected

Purposely I have emphasized the need of early establishing respect for NO. As soon as this control is achieved physical punishment can be abandoned and effective substitutes employed. The simple and most effective substitute, it seems to me, is for the tot to sit in a certain place where he can be seen, doing nothing for a definite time, 15 or 20 minutes. This cannot be effective, of course, if the child would venture to leave the place before the appointed time is up.

I wish I might prevail on those parents who strike their children when they feel annoyed at them, or shriek at them to control them, to try this method. More-over, I would plead with parents who are still whipping their children eight, 12, or even 15 years of age, to find a more humane and effective mode of punishment.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Should the mother try to control her child by threatening to tell the father?

A. About the meanest mother is the tattling mother. Anyway punishment, to be effective, must be immediate, especially with the younger child, and should be inflicted by the parent who is with the child at the time of his punishable act.

SPICY NEWS

War is no respecter of persons or things. Even the poppy seed on your breakfast roll, the sage and paprika which add that special tang to roast duck or a stew, are feeling the pinch of war.

Blockades and embargoes have sharply reduced the amounts of spices reaching our shores, and although there is no shortage expected within a year, spice concerns are already looking for new sources of supply. England can no longer send mustard. War in the Mediterranean has cut off importation of sage, that indispensable ally of the sausage and hot dog. Nor do Holland's curaway and poppy seeds, and Hungary's paprika, any longer reach these shores.

The far East remains the only dependable, though limited source of supply. From China, the Dutch East Indies, India, Zanzibar and Madagascar now come nearly all imported condiments and preservatives. And it is those lands, appropriate enough, which owed their actual discovery to the spice quests of Europe's navigators during the era of exploration some four centuries ago.

G. O. P. Seeking Majority In House
Hopes To Reach Goal On 1942 Vote
Task In Senate Impossibility Now

By CHARLES P. STEWART

General Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 15.—As chairman of the Republican committee, Congressman Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, who also is minority leader in the house of representatives, is concentrating on the job of getting a G. O. P. majority into the lower branch of the national legislature at the 1942 election of the country's lawmakers.

He can't possibly get such a majority into the senate. The senators' terms expire only one-third of them at a time, and the Democrats' senatorial predominance is so great at present that the Republicans still will be narrowly outvoted in that chamber even if they win every seat at stake next year, which, of course, they can't do. However, it's at least theoretically possible for them to gain control of the representative house, since those boys all are chosen or rechosen biennially.

And it will be a rare feather in Joe Martin's cap if he can get his party into just one of Capitol Hill's two majorities for the last half of President Roosevelt's term.

In an odd way the latest census returns, especially for Pennsylvania, may count considerably as a deciding factor in the contest. Why so and why in Pennsylvania particularly calls for some words of explanation.

Well, succeeding censuses show various shifts in local populations' growth. The last one much shrinkage anywhere, but some states populations grow faster than others. If a state lags it's likely to lose slightly in the number of national representatives it's entitled to. When this happens the affected state is expected to redistrict itself congressionally.

It isn't done congressionally, it's done by the legislature of the state in question. If a legislature doesn't attend to it, then that state's next congressional election is "at large"—not as per each of its districts.

New York's Case

For instance, New York state gained a couple of seats on the strength of past censuses, but didn't redistrict itself. Consequently it elects 43 of its representatives by district with two at large; the whole state votes on 'em. Now under the most recent census the Empire commonwealth gains another seat. If it still doesn't redistrict, it'll have three congressmen-at-large. But a lone congressman added or subtracted out of a total of 435, doesn't greatly matter.

The same census trims Massachusetts' delegation of 15 to 14. Codfish state, though, will redistrict itself, to a certainty.

There are various other changes that don't materially signify.

But Pennsylvania?

The Quaker realm, next after New York the most populous subdivision in the land, is pared down from 34 to 33 representatives. Unless it redistricts itself the entire 33 will be chosen at large—by a state-wide vote, all of 'em.

Now, 33, even out of a 435 total, is a pretty large mouthful. If one political party wins the entire outfit, added to what it can pick up

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1941)

Trouble At The Top

WASHINGTON, May 15.—IT is both accurate and fair to say that there are today in Washington a great many things connected with our defense effort which are not going well. There is confusion; there is conflict of authority; there are delay, duplication and waste. Some of this, of course, is unavoidable; but a lot of it could be easily avoided.

A LOT of it is extremely costly not only in money, of which there seems no limit, but in time and material which are of much greater value to the cause to which we are committed. It is not getting better, and every posted person knows it. Those like Capt. Jimmie Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, who a short while ago told Americans in the East that "we are doing a swell job," or like Mr. Jesse Jones, who in a recent New York speech declared that things are "better than good," are either ignorant or out-and-out liars.

In the case of Captain Roosevelt, he just does not know any better. In the case of Mr. Jones, he knows better, but his is the only kind of statement a member of Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet possibly could make. Every Administration spokesman, naturally, has to take the view that everything is lovely and no mistakes are being made. If he suggested otherwise, he very quickly would find himself out of favor at the White House. Disagreeing with the President—any President—and still holding high position in his Administration just isn't done. So, if one speaks at all as a member of the Administration, one must speak in praise. This, as much as anything, accounts for the complacency of the American people in the face of what really is unprecedented inefficiency.

THEY are complacent because they are unable to see the real picture, and they accept the statement that it is a pretty picture because they are told so by those who are helping paint it or who are in position to see it closely. But it isn't pretty at all, and no one knows it as well as those who are disseminating the idea. Moreover, they must speak in praise. The big and very clear reason is that the man responsible, the man at the top—Franklin Roosevelt—does not have any real perspective of the job ahead of us, and, except in a casual way or in a submerged capacity, has not brought into his setup anyone who has. Nor is he acting in defense matters upon the advice of the able and more experienced men who see him; quite the reverse.

DISREGARDING all counsel to the contrary, the President started out on the job as he was going to run the whole business; that every decision was to be his; that his defense organization was not to be modeled on that of the Wilson organization; that there was going to be no relinquishment of any of the so-called "social gains" made since the New Deal. He is still adhering to this plan, despite the almost incredible bewilderment that has been created and the very heavy unnecessary strain which has caused a physical and nervous condition deeply distressing to his friends and alarming to everyone who has not heard it. Things are in such a state now that it is difficult to see how they can be completely straightened out short of dismantling of the present structure and the rebuilding of another.

THAT, of course, will not be done. What is being done is that, here and there, changes are being forced and ideas adopted which were urged up to the President at the beginning but which he had brushed aside. However, the makeshift, piecemeal, halfhearted method by which this is being done stands in the way of the construction of a strongly built, coordinated, smoothly running machine. We haven't anything like that sort of machine now and the prospects are we never will have. Things might be considerably different if Mr. Roosevelt had in his head clear, strong, sound, tested

State Starts Inspection Of Tourist Camps And Public Picnic Places

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 15.—Anticipating a record-breaking tourist travel in Pennsylvania this year, the state department of health has started a sweeping inspection of all public camps and picnic grounds in the commonwealth.

"Observance of the department's rules and regulations for the prevention of disease, and for the protection of the lives and health of persons using the camps will be insisted upon," State Secretary of Health Dr. John J. Shaw said.

District health officers, under direction of the health department's division of environmental hygiene, are checking milk and water supplies, garbage and sewage disposal, and the general cleanliness of eating establishments in or near the camp grounds. Chief of the division, James C. Bell, estimated that more than a fourth of the nearly 2,000 public camps of the state will have been inspected by the middle of May.

Bell included in the "public camp" classification all organization or summer camps for boys, girls or adults, having a fixed location and a supervised recreational program; recreational areas where the public may gather for swimming, games and outdoor activities; tourist cabin camps or two or more cabins where the traveling public may be housed over night, or for longer periods; trailer camps or tenting grounds established or maintained for the general use of the traveling public.

The war abroad and the national defense boom at home has greatly increased the state's highway travel volume, numbered annually in the millions during the vacation months. The expansion has necessitated a widened program of surveillance by the health department to meet its responsibilities in the rural sanitation field.

Field Artillery At Camp
Shelby, Miss.

(Special To The News)
CAMP SHELBY, Miss., May 12.—Some 1287 enlisted men and 54 officers, shined and shaved and dapper in their new cotton uniforms, were defeated last week by a heavy semitropical rain in their desire to parade for the last time until late August before their commanding officer, Colonel Samuel B. Wolfe, who has been ordered to the Field Artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla.

Driving rain, however, did not hinder the officers in plans for a final leave taking in their mess hall. They held a party for Colonel Wolfe and members of the band led by Sergeant George E. Meekins played the Field Artillery March in his honor. They played two homey nostalgic tunes that they hope he'll

One divorce decree was handed down Wednesday by Judge W. Walter Braham, that of Genevieve Barber Vancouver from Daniel L. Vancouver.

In a decision handed down by Judge Charles Matthews, Jr., the case of the commonwealth versus Maurice J. Kraus of Ellwood City is dismissed and the costs placed upon the county.

The case is an old one and goes back to May 18, 1940 when Mr. Kraus was arrested for failure to observe a stop sign at Parkstown Corners. The arrest was made by the motor police.

At the time the matter came into court before Judge Thomas W. Dickey, now deceased, Mr. Kraus pleaded that the sign was in a bad place and that in order to see whether traffic was coming it was necessary to go beyond the sign. Before a decision could be rendered Judge Dickey died.

The case was considered by Judges Braham and Matthews with Judge Matthews writing the opinion. In it he said that the commonwealth had produced no evidence to show the sign was the right size or in the right place and dismissed the charge with the costs placed upon the county.

Small fruits have received but little injury due to frosts, at least thus far, said Sheriff M. M. Ingham.

Wednesday. The sheriff says that while some cherries in low land have been hit a little, for the most part the cherries and other small fruits are for the most part safe. Apples have been untouched.

Twenty parcels of property will be sold by Sheriff M. M. Ingham on Monday, June 2. Notices are posted in the court house lobby.

In the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar the following cases have been listed.

George Abram McFarland of New Castle asks a divorce from Emma E. McFarland of R. D. 1, Pa. They were married March 20, 1937. Desertion is charged.

Sophia Milton, widow, and administratrix of the estate of Paul Milton files a suit for $20,462 against the Pennsylvania Power Co. for the death of her husband on June 8, 1940.

It is charged that on that date, Milton was employed by the William Miskom Company. In his performance of duty he was to paint some poles and signs on the property of M. C. Mains who operates a filling station at Cool Springs, Mercer county.

Mr. Milton was up a pole about twenty feet high and was engaged in painting the sign when his brush came into contact with an electric wire. He was thrown against other electric wires and electrocuted. In the claim, $462 is asked for funeral expenses and the $20,000 for loss of her husband.

A settlement has been reached in the case of Joseph Mendel, a minor by his parents George and Valera Mendel and in their own right. The plaintiff was injured on March 15, 1941 when he was struck by the car of the defendant at the corner of Lutton and Agnew streets. A settlement of $172.50 was agreed upon by the litigants and Judge Matthews signed the order.

Tax Rumors Bring School Board Reply

Joint Statement Issued By Board At Meeting Held Last Night

Members of the New Castle School Board issued a joint statement Wednesday night at the board meeting, concerning rumors which they said have been circulating about the board's attitude upon the exoneration of taxes on industrial sites in the city. In order that the citizens may know the position of the board in the matter and their limitations, legally, the joint statement was issued and follows:

"It has been brought to the attention of members of the School Board that there is being circulated about the city, that the School Board is hindering the industrial progress of the city by declining to exonerate the owners of certain real estate, that might be used for industrial purposes, from the payment of taxes lawfully assessed and levied for the purpose of conducting the schools of the city.

"For the information of the taxpayers, and in answer to these irresponsible rumors, it called to your attention that the members of the School Board, who are representative citizens, elected by the voters, serving without pay and charged with the duty of administering the laws relating to public education, are as much concerned about the industrial development of New Castle as any of our citizens.

"They have reason for greater concern than the ordinary citizen, because they are charged with the duty of raising sufficient funds from the taxpayers to properly conduct the schools of the city. Increased industrial development in the city would solve one of their most troublesome problems, that is, it would enable the Board to provide sufficient revenue to operate the schools without imposing burdensome taxes on real estate and home owners.

"However, it must be kept in mind that the members of the School Board are not a law unto themselves, but are bound and restricted in what they may do by the laws of the Commonwealth governing the schools.

"The Board has been advised by its Solicitor, that it has no authority to exonerate or compromise school taxes lawfully assessed and levied upon real estate, except where the property has been sold for taxes, and then it must be upon approval of the Court of Common Pleas.

"Certainly the public does not expect the members of the School Board to promote the industrial development of New Castle by violating the law which they are sworn to uphold, and to assume the risk of being surcharged for their unlawful act.

"It might also be well for the taxpayers to keep in mind that, it requires a certain amount of revenue to conduct the schools of New Castle, and if it were possible to relieve prospective industrial plants of all or a portion of their school taxes, it would mean increased taxation to other taxpayers of our city."

W. C. T. U. SILVER TEA.
Members of the Slippery Rock W. C. T. U. sponsored a silver tea recently in the auditorium of the Princeton high school, which was under the direction of Mrs. Elmer Armstrong, director of Bible in the schools. Several musical selections were presented by the sextette of the Penn Power Company, and Annette Smith favored with two vocal solos. Group singing was enjoyed, and Rev. Wallace presented the silver offering to Rev. Smith and Rev. Blackwood, who so faithfully taught the classes this year. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Armstrong and her aides served tea, with Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Blackwood pouring.

Broadening Christian Horizons: Saul's Conversion Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Conversion of Saul

"I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision."—Acts 26:19.
By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 18 is Acts 9:1-31, the Golden Text being Acts 26:19. "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.")

SAUL, WHO had been present and consented to the death of Stephen, and later created havoc among the Christians, was so bent on persecuting this new sect, that he was "breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord."

Saul, born at Tarsus, and highly educated, was determined to put an end to this new religion. So he went to the chief priests at Jerusalem, who directed all the Jews in religious matters, and asked them for letters to the synagogues in Damascus, six or eight days' journey from Jerusalem, planning to take all the Christians he could find there, men and women, and bring them bound to Jerusalem, so that they could be put to death.

He received the letters and started for Damascus. About noon of a certain day, while he and his companions were on their way, suddenly a great and unnatural light shone around Saul. He fell from his horse,

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches—people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHILD'S MUSICAL EDUCATION CAN BEGIN AS EARLY AS ONE YEAR

Third of a series on the normal progress of the child in the first year.

Many children at one year are able to walk. But if your year-old child, though apparently healthy and vigorous, still takes flops whenever he tries to get along erect, you have no need to worry. A great many muscles must work together in the apparently simple process of walking erectly and gracefully. Abdomen, buttock, shoulder, trunk and leg muscles all play a part. Some children are slower in coordinating these than others. Overweight children find it harder to manage than the small, wiry type. An average child may not walk until it is 14 or 15 months old.

At an early age the child begins to delight in balancing himself, and you may find that your child stands and supports his weight by hanging onto a chair or table for a long time before he lets go and starts out on his own. It is not necessary or advisable to force him through this stage. After a while he will begin to find the muscles in his feet and legs strengthen. He will take one step without support, and stand, swaying, until he gets his balance and his confidence. Then he will take another step, and so on until walking is merely another habit he has acquired.

Progress in talk is much the same. There is a great variation in the amount of talking year-old children do. Some can't or don't speak at all, others are regular babblers.

Some children are slow in learning to talk not because they are "backward" but simply because they have no impulse or desire to talk.

New Record For Hatching Eggs At Jordan Farm

Jordan state game farm's hatching records of past seasons had scored anew today.

A total of 2,430 birds were hatched from 3,024 eggs set in the first hatch, or 80 per cent. Superintendent Kenneth N. Brennen reported. That's the highest the farm has had in a first hatch. Hatching has just started.

About 26,000 eggs are to be placed in brooders for hatching this season.

Guest Preacher At First Baptist

At the First Baptist church Sunday, Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor of the Wyoming Avenue Baptist church, Philadelphia, will be the guest preacher. Rev. Hurst's sermon subjects will be, in the morning, "World Disturbances," and the evening service, "A Technical Saint."

There are more than 600 wild birds in North Carolina, according to a recent survey.

NERVOUS FROM RESTLESS NIGHTS? Is It Your Kidneys?

Active, normal-acting kidneys and bladder expel from the blood excess acids and poisons—that's their health-giving job.

If kidneys are sluggish or not active enough, these harmful acids and poisons may stay in the blood and cause much misery and distress, and bring on ill health in this regard.

For instance, lazy kidneys may make you nervous if they cause you to lose sleep because of getting up frequently at night. Also may cause dizzy spells, backache, leg cramps or swollen ankles.

Better try a 35-cent box of GOLD MEDAL Haaslin Oil Capsules—a real kidney diuretic and stimulant that may do you a lot of good.

They have been helping people for scores of years to relieve their aches and pains when caused by lazy, sluggish kidneys.

But be sure and ask for Gold Medal Haaslin Oil Capsules—the genuine—pure and original. Don't be an easy mark and accept a cheap substitute—Look for the GOLD MEDAL on the box—the sign of purity—35 cents.

Shull of Monroe; Grover C. Lader, of Philadelphia; Judge Michael A. Musmanno, of Pittsburgh; and Judge John H. McCann, of Cambria.

Five plays will be presented this summer in the Provincial Playhouse at Cascade Park if plans of the amateur players materialize.

Director James W. Sotus said "Blind Alley" by James Warwick would be the first early in June. Others, including "Rebellion in Toyland" by Sotus himself, will come during June and July. A musical comedy will be the final offering.

The Provincial Playhouse is in its third year. Last year the group gave "Boy Meets Girl" in the park open-air theater.

they normally would attend, are closed... Harrisburgers rejected Sunday movies last November, due to strong opposition by church elements.

Consequently, state officials look with increasing favor on bills introduced in both the house and senate seeking to permit Sunday movies in Harrisburg, regardless of the local option vote... The bill specifically provides that in the interest of national defense Sunday movies be permitted in communities within a radius of 10 miles of any army encampment... That would take in Harrisburg.

Landscaping designed to make the Pennsylvania Capitol grounds among the most beautiful of their kind in the country is now under way... The work is expected to cost upwards of $10,000... Brunner, designer of the Capitol group.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

What is the mental health of individuals in wartime?
The greatest enemy of continuous mental health is fear.
The origin of fear is activity of the defense mechanism.
Alertness to danger keys the entire human body for action.
It is cultivated through the sympathetic nervous system.
If action is restrained or checked, fright is produced.
The best corrective of fear is action.
One type of fear is the fear of being frightened.
Rumors and suggestions often produce the herd feeling of panic.
Cooperative action with neighbors preserves mental health.
Especially is this true during war times.
Physical fitness, sufficient sleep and cheer ally fear.

Today's Lesson in Flag Etiquette

• Burning should be used for platforms or for the decoration of speakers' stands and for general decorations. The blue stripe should always be placed uppermost and the red at the bottom.

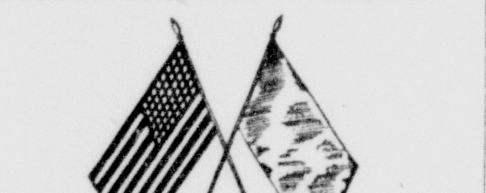

• On patriotic occasions, the flag may be displayed above and behind the speaker against a wall or curtain. If flown from a staff, it should be placed at the speaker's right.

• In church, the flag should be placed at the congregation's right. Other flags should be placed to the left of the congregation. In the chancel, or on a platform, the flag should be placed at the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation, and the other flags at his left.

• When one halyard is used for two or more flags, the American flag should always be flown at the peak. In displaying flags on adjacent staffs the American flag should be hoisted first and lowered last.

• When the American flag is displayed with another flag with staffs crossed, the American flag should be on the right, with the staff over the staff of the other flag.

This is the fourth of a series of five lessons in "Flag Etiquette" as approved by the National Department of Americanism, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, offered to the readers of The News as a timely patriotic feature designed to stimulate proper observance of National Flag Code regulations.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

We hereby give a synopsis of the terms of the Act of Assembly approved by the Governor on May 1, 1941, relating to the abatement of penalties and interest on delinquent taxes.

It must be understood that this is not a copy of the Act and only sets forth briefly the benefits provided by said Act and the conditions required by the taxpayers in order to receive said benefits.

THE BENEFITS PROVIDED

(a) All penalties and interest imposed on unpaid delinquent taxes (insofar as the County of Lawrence and all of its subdivisions are concerned) for the year 1940 and all previous years assessed and levied against any parcel or parcels of real estate, are abated, unless the authority levying the tax shall have notified the County Treasurer on or before May 30, 1941, that such taxing authority had rejected the provisions of said Act.

(b) The benefits of the Act apply to all taxes for the year 1940 and prior thereto, including those returned to the office of the County Commissioners, those returned to the City Treasurer, those for which liens have been filed in the office of the Prothonotary, those where proceedings have been instituted in Court for collection and those where the real estate had been sold to a county, city, borough, town, township, school district or county institution district at a tax sale or on a tax lien, where the period of redemption has not expired, but it does not apply to cases where the period of redemption has expired or to cases where the property has been purchased by an individual.

(c) The benefits of the Act accrue to the original taxpayer and to any purchaser at sheriff's or other judicial sale and to the grantee, transferee, mortgagee or other owner having right of redemption.

(d) Every taxpayer requesting, either in person or in writing, from the collector or person having custody of the records, a statement of his taxes, penalties and interest, shall be entitled to receive the same, and each collector, in his notice of taxes, shall include a statement of the date on which the next installment payment becomes due.

NECESSARY CONDITIONS REQUIRED

(a) On or before November 1, 1941, the taxpayer must pay 20 per centum or more of the unpaid delinquent taxes due for the year 1940 and all previous years, and on or before the first day of November of each year thereafter 20 per centum of the same until the entire 100 per centum is paid.

(b) The taxpayer must pay the current taxes for each year beginning with 1941 and continuing as long as he is paying on the 20 per centum plan before said current taxes become delinquent, and under the provisions of said Act such current taxes become delinquent on the date a penalty attaches to the same. As to the County and Institution taxes, they become delinquent on September 1st of each year, but as to city, school, road or borough taxes, you should consult your local authority as to the date on which the taxes become delinquent.

(c) A failure to comply with the provisions of the Act, either as to payment of the 20 per centum installment or as to the payment of the current taxes, will revive all penalties and interest that otherwise would be abated and they shall be added to the then unpaid tax and the taxpayer shall not thereafter be entitled to any further benefits or privileges under this Act.

Indians Again Defeat Yankees

Harder Outpitches Red Ruffing As Rampaging Indians Keep On Rampaging

PIRATES SMOTHER PHILS UNDER HITS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 15.—Those happy bachelors—the Broadway bookies—today definitely installed the Indians and Dodgers as 6 to 5 favorites in their respective leagues.

Both clubs made the bookies sound good yesterday. The Indians, for instance, got only six hits off Ruffing—the same number the Yanks made off Harder—but half of the Indians' hits were homers by DeSautels, Campbell and Walker and the result was a 4-1 decision for Cleveland.

And the Dodgers looked like money in the bank as they again knocked off the fast-fading Reds, 6 to 2, giving Whitlow Wyatt his seventh straight victory. The Reds really look pitiful. They're not hitting their weight and yesterday Derringer lasted only three heats against the rampaging Dodgers. Incidentally, Joe Medwick ran his personal hitting streak through 15 games by socking a homer with one aboard in his first time up.

The Red Sox moved back into second place in the American league by topping the White Sox, 10-7, on one juicy seven-run spurge during which Joe Cronin hit a homer with the bases loaded.

A revised Brownie line-up worked like a charm and with Bob Harris elbowing steadily they knocked over the Athletics, 10 to 5. And the Senators really went to town against a trio of Tiger throwers whom they bumped for 16 hits, including Chapman's round-tripper, and a 9-4 verdict.

Over in the other circuit, the Cardinals lost a little ground to the Dodgers when their game with the Giants was rained out and a similar fate met the Braves and Cubs in Chicago.

That leaves only the Phils unaccounted for and they dropped another to the Pirates, 12 to 7, in a game that saw nine alleged pitchers toiling on the mound. Three of the Phils hit homers but all their hitting couldn't offset their terrible pitching.

Since then Spot has regarded the bunnies as his particular charges and guards them night and day.

The senate "pickled" the resolution, which means action has been indefinitely postponed. Senator Jaspian, who with Senator Anthony Disilvestro, said that although "nothing" has occurred to alter our opinion" there was not sufficient time left to make the inquiry. They are Philadelphia Democrats.

Trail Ends For Many Veterans In Major Loops

Quite A Few Veteran Stars Out As Major Teams Prune Rosters

May 15 of any year is a sad one in the major leagues. On that date, no big league team's roster must number over 25 players. The excess baggage—usually a few old timers hanging on—get the well known bounce.

But this May has been a sad, sad one. An amazing number of players, who have roamed the fertile pastures for 15 or 20 seasons, have come to the end of the trail.

Such satellites as Paul Waner, Dick Bartell, the one and only "Diz" Dean, Wesley Ferrell, Van Lingle Mungo, Tex Carleton and Ear Averill are on the outside looking in. With the exception of Bartell and Waner, the remaining vets seem doomed.

Before midnight tonight, you'll probably read about a number of changes. It's May 15, that explains it all.

Two No-Hitters In City-County Loop Wednesday

Jake Saginich, Pulaski, And "Bill" Lowers, Shamrocks, Record Feats

Baseball history was made in the City-County Independent Baseball league last night.

In probably the greatest pitching exhibitions ever recorded here in one evening, Jake Saginich, toiling the mound for the crack Pulaski aggregation, and "Bill" Lowers, hurrying "down the alley" for the Shamrocks, each recorded a no-hit no-run game.

Despite the fact that the clashes were of the abbreviated variety, five innings, the feats are still as rare as radium.

Saginich's performance was unprecedented. Hurling against the South Hills nine 1940 champs, the Pulaski peger tossed balls that looked the size of peas when they reached the dish. He struck out every man but one during the short game. Sixteen clubbers faced him.

Dewey A. C. overcame a five-run margin to pin back the New Castle Ramblers, 9-7, on Ryantown field.

The Ramblers moved ahead 7-2 as the third canto started. The Deweys mixed an assortment of bingles in the next four frames to win. Five errors played a major role in the Ramblers' defeat. Blisshop garnered three hits for the losers, two of them doubles.

The Civics collected nine hits off Strolica. Goragas laced a homer for the winners. DeLeon and Gall propelled triples. Baxter and Probst were credited with the lone Elder hits.

Dialing a few sports stations:—

Lawrence county par chasers will greet the news that Mrs. Freida Nolan is on the road to recovery. Injured when she fell in Asheville, N. C., a few weeks back, the famous local golfer has been bedfast since the mishap. "Much to my regret, I won't be on the links until mid-July," Mrs. Nolan said yesterday.

The young diamond gentry will welcome an announcement that the Atlantic company will conduct a free baseball school here again this season. Barring any last minute hitch in plans, the project will be undertaken starting sometime next month, one of the officials informed this corner today.

'Tis reported from New York that a few major league umpires sat in on the alleged Billy Soose-Ken Overlin strike last Friday night. Most of the arbiters walked out smiling. Larry Goetz quipped: "Never again will I ever need be ashamed of any decision I make on a ball field."

Manhattan scribes are still digging deep for a word which will adequately describe the Soose-Overlin melee. Billy Coon was recently arrested for speeding. Boxing was barred from the state of Washington until about 1935. After the Baer-Louis scrap, officials may wish the law was never lifted.

Cincy's tail spin has caused a few ardent followers of the champs to ask us: "What's wrong?" Like Hedy Lamarr, we believe in letting figures speak for themselves. In their first 20 games, Cincinnati averaged 3.15 runs per game. The average represents the lowest in either league. In addition, the fielding has been a bit Philly-like.

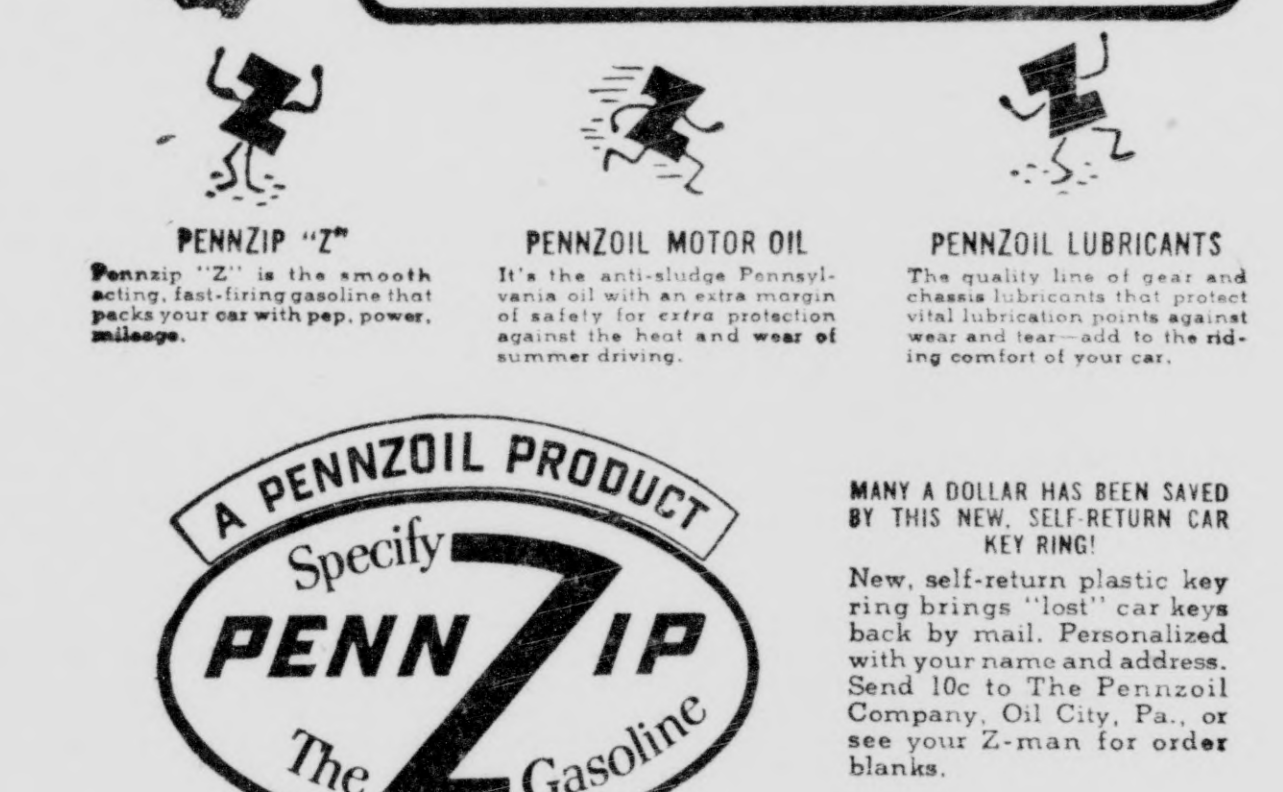

All those "haws" and "too bad" are being chorused by National Leaguers. Their cousin—"Dix" Dean, ain't no more. . . . Thus ends the CHAL, member of the University of Illinois varsity golf team, is a son of John Buzick, oldtime Illini pitcher, who pitched a 17 inning game which the Illini won 2 to 1 against Chicago in 1910, with Pat Page on the mound for the Maroons.

One of the meanest persons in the world is the one who feeds dogs and cats ground glass. There is some one on the North Hill doing this trick now... several pets have been found dying from eating ground glass. Anyone who would stoop to such a low trick must have something wrong with that portion of the body that sets on their shoulders.

We older folks have worries and troubles... but the small child has their's too... especially when their cutting time is with them. They can't tell what ails them... parents sometimes lose sleep during these times... boy could we use a little sleep right now... but we are not complaining... soon the l. g. will have enough teeth to eat corn on the cob.

A watch was lost on Monday... an ad was placed in the paper Wednesday... at five o'clock Wednesday the watch was back in the hands of the loser. That's what some people call service. The Classified ads can help you... try one sometime.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

This is a funny old world... people do such odd things at times... say odd things and live in odd ways. But as has been said before, it takes all kinds to make up a population... so we content ourselves with that thought.

Often times during the years campaigns are launched for this purpose or that... folks of the town was asked if they won't help out... either give cash at the time of the campaign or pledge a certain amount within their budget... and pay that amount in the future. It's very interesting to look over a list of those who have paid cash and those who have pledged... a great number of folks make a pledge but that is as far as it goes. They never make a payment. The same ones always sign a pledge... It seems to me that if you don't intend to pay your pledge, what's the use of making one. Think back over the times you have gone back on your word... if every one went back on their word, where would the United States be today? So the next time you make a pledge, do your utmost to keep it... some day you will cry wolf once too often.

One of the meanest persons in the world is the one who feeds dogs and cats ground glass. There is some one on the North Hill doing this trick now... several pets have been found dying from eating ground glass. Anyone who would stoop to such a low trick must have something wrong with that portion of the body that sets on their shoulders.

We older folks have worries and troubles... but the small child has their's too... especially when their cutting time is with them. They can't tell what ails them... parents sometimes lose sleep during these times... boy could we use a little sleep right now... but we are not complaining... soon the l. g. will have enough teeth to eat corn on the cob.

A watch was lost on Monday... an ad was placed in the paper Wednesday... at five o'clock Wednesday the watch was back in the hands of the loser. That's what some people call service. The Classified ads can help you... try one sometime.
